Must Furnish Responses to Questionnaire Covering Every Phase of Operation —Is Part of Commission's Inquiry Into Road Man- agement.

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 18.—As a part of its inquiry into efficiency and economy of railway management the Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered the 51 largest railways to furnish under oath responses to a questionnaire covering labor conditions in their maintenance department and the general situation as to fitness of equipment. The companies were given May 5 to reply. Each railroad was asked for data as to how the strike of shopmen affected it and if any settlement had been made with the employees. Where no settlements had been reached the roads were required to state what striking employees demanded before returning to work. They also were asked for information as to expenditures in fighting the strike in providing lodging and guards for strike breaking and to give by months from July 1, 1921 to March 1, 1923, the total number of train and engine employees in their service. Other sections of the questionnaire were designated to elicit data as to the amount of traffic handled and the records of their service ability, including locomotives and car breakdowns.

In connection with the number of men employed by the questionnaire sought also the pay rate. Details of railway practices in contracting for outside repair work on locomotives and cars also was asked.

5,000 Workers Bow to "Queen"

By F. V. GIBBONS
(Sp. to The Bee)

CHICAGO, April 18.—A queen in her own right, Mrs. Florence V. Murphy here.

Monarch of all she surveys, with matchless smile and an abundant she rules over 5,000 subjects. They're the men—men of the gas workers, the bootblacks and the street sweeper's unions.

Down to the very last of her member obeys her command in "shiny" don't let me see you.

"Queen Murphy" as she is joyfully called, came into the "throne" by right of lawful success on a month ago.

This was when her husband, the famous "Big Tim" Murphy was sentenced to 10 years at Leavenworth after a 5-year trial at Dearborn Street Station for robbery.

Murphy was known as Chicago's "Big Tim" and held allegiance by the right of his fists and a well-stocked back, the yards of his family.

When the federal chaplains appeared and announced the jig was up, "Big Tim" kissed Mrs. Murphy goodbye and laughing charged her to "carry on."

And that's what she's been doing since meeting with a success that proves itself.

All her subjects swear by her, and there's not a man among the lot who wouldn't risk his neck and the necks of all his friends too should "Queen Murphy" demand such a sacrifice.

By the time the federal chaplains came on duty for the third time she had made the Chicago strudel with unshaken hands.

And here is the power also to interfere with the city's economic affairs. The gas workers are the champions who have the fuel which causes the time to turn the clock and about twice no steaks could be cooked.

SHE HANDLES TIM'S AFFAIRS

Likewise she could tell the street sweepers to take up their golf stick and run away to the country over the week-end which would leave the many avenues up to their curbstones in dirt.

TOURISTS BUY BUM CHAMPAIGNE

COLON, April 17.—They're still playing the old "water-champagne" game in the higher class cabarets in Colon. And true to tradition, the stunner is as glib as ever.

Now in these cabarets, where tan and white meet jovially, girls are employed to "eat, drink and be merry" with the guests.

Invariably these girls order the choicest and most expensive liquors and champagnes. But here is the "trick"—the supposed champagne, for which the guests pay a fabulous sum, even in this alcohol oasis is nothing but colored water. In this way the girls are enabled to move from table to table, drinking no, minus, without possibility of intoxication.

"It's the old, old brazen 'skin game,'" but they still fall for it. That's what counts.

FRANCE LOOKING TO YOUNGER MEN FOR LEADERSHIP

PARIS, April 17.—Look forward and not backward, build resolutely upward with no complaint about the past, and with complete faith in France's power to accomplish results and overcome all obstacles, is the battle-cry of a Frenchman who is rising on the political horizon and who, his friends say, will one day be prime minister of the republic. That man is Andre Tardieu. He is young—only 46—active, buoyant, gripped with energy and vital force, and leader of the opposition in the Chamber of Deputies. He is well-known in America, for he lectured at Harvard University some years ago and during the war was French High Commissioner at Washington.

No Parliament in a republic would be real without an opposition, and the fact that Tardieu heads the party that keeps its eye on every move of the cabinet does not mean that in these days of trouble and reconstruction he is in any sense less patriotic than his fellow countrymen.

Tardieu is a moderate Republican. He believes that the majority of the Chamber has been conducted by the governments since 1919 in a way which properly safeguards neither the external nor the internal policies of France, and that the bureaucratic machinery of the old state-war organization, which is out of sympathy with modern ideas of progress, is too influential. He believes that before the elections of next spring a government should come into office which will be less disposed to bargain with the radicals, and put them in office and which will openly proclaim itself moderate. He is convinced that the time has come when France should be governed by a younger generation, not necessarily lawyers and orators, and that the school represented by Poincaré, Barthou, Briand and Caillaux has lost touch with present-day reality. Such men, in his opinion, have been too close to the mental current of fear of Germany. He believes there is a place in France for a stronger and more efficient policy both at home and abroad, because France is the strongest nation in Europe and must go resolutely forward to the attainment of results which shall be the final test of her greatness. He thinks that the French occupation of the Ruhr was insufficiently prepared and lacks adequate organization.

The United States, when Tardieu knows so well, strikes him from this angle. He deems that an urgent need of the French people is that they should know America and Americans better. Much has been said, as he puts it, about Americans not understanding the French, but he is convinced that the amazing ignorance of the French concerning the United States has been even more serious. He would, therefore, have American news come directly from the United States to France, and less through London and English newspapers. He believes that every leading newspaper of France should have its own special correspondent in America, so that the people of France may have placed before them a direct interpretation of American events. American policies and American aspirations. Conversely, he favors the establishment in Paris of a French journal of information.

He does not believe in propaganda. He knows France has nothing to hide, but he fears that the impression of something of concealment gets abroad because of the difficulty foreigners have in obtaining facts which interest them. He wants France to kick over its own table and methods in its administration, to be just as it crashed every day when it organized and, with all its might, to be the great war machine of the world. He is convinced that the French people are watching him, and he is convinced that it is until the problem is settled in a way that is fair to France, every Frenchman will stand solidly behind Tardieu. He believes that the crisis is over, and that leaders may be called to carry on the work of building the great France of the future, and it is then that Tardieu's friends expect to see him in the front ranks.

ERUPTION OF MAUNA LOA PRIORITIZED BY OBSERVER

HONOLULU, April 17.—A new summit eruption of the intermittent Mauna Loa before 1923 has been forecast by Thomas A. Jaggar, Jr., government volcanologist at the Kilauea observatory. Mauna Loa is the chief of Hawaii.

Dr. Jaggar said that the Kilauea level and that of Mauna Loa rise and fall in concert. Both volcanoes contain the same underground course, the eruptions of which bring about a regular cycle of activities. In connection with the forecast Dr. Jaggar urged the construction of a trail to Mauna Loa as a safeguard which would permit quick investigation of activities.

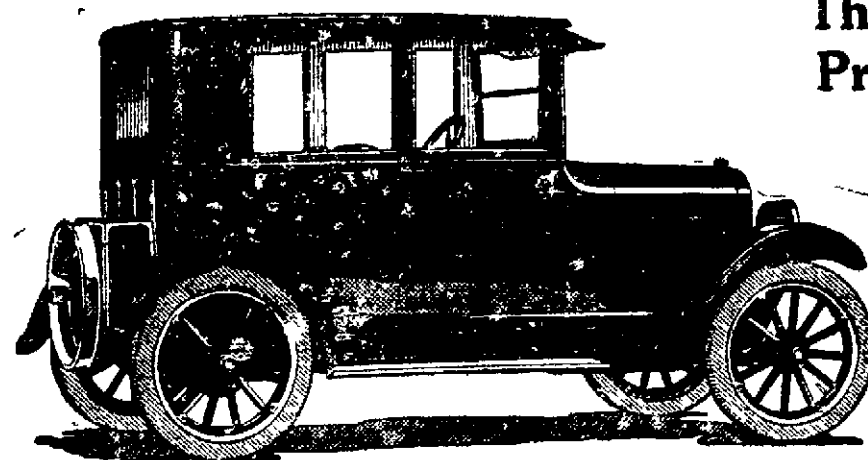

A Mauna Loa's last great activity was in 1918, when the lava overflowed the crater and swept down to the sea thirty miles away.

Patrick Bull Wrecks Still and Gets Caught

It is the belief in Patrick county that the Federal Prohibition Department would do well to secure the services of a shorthorn bull that is the property of T. L. Clark, clerk of court of Patrick county. It would appear that this bull has a well developed taste for the bacteriological bug juice that the mountaineers call moonshine, knows where to find the stuff and delights to get on a jag.

This bovine booze hound was one of a number of cattle sent by Mr. Clark from his farm near Stuart to a little mountain valley where there was a quantity of foodstuff which could not be moved because of the impassable roads.

The bull seems to have been satisfied with the provender that was served him, but he also wanted an appetizer, which is not hard to find in that particular section. The animal had only a short distance to go before it found a still. When there it went right to the source of supply, nosing off the cap and worm and showing its head in the copper still, where there was a quantity of mash ready to be run.

After eating its fill, the bull tried to remove its head, which about that time not only was, but felt several times larger than the still opening would permit to be removed. The animal now moved off unsteadily with the copper utensil on his head, a real case of blind staggers. In getting away the bull thoroughly wrecked everything pertaining to the still. Several barrels of mash were overturned, equipment was knocked out of place and trampled underfoot. Had the still been the traditional china shop the bull could not have wrecked any more damage.

Soon after the bull had gotten away from the immediate vicinity the moonshiner returned. He was convinced that the revenue officers had visited the place. That the ground was covered with the spirit of cloven hoofs but served to confirm belief. It was a fact that the still was a total loss and the "damned revenuers" were the only persons who disported themselves in such a manner.

However, the bull gave himself away. On the brow of a not far distant knoll stood the animal, legs wide spread, following defiance into the muffled concavity of the copper still. Every now and then he wildly shook his head, but to no avail.

The moonshiner tried to remove the copper still himself, but it was not a one-man job. In the end it took seven men to rescue the animal from the vessel. So far the bull has shown no ill-effects from going once too often to a still.

Death Of Old Miner Dooms Famous Camp

BUTTE, Mont., April 17.—When Jack Kern, aged prospector and one of the founders of Highland City, Mont., died in his cabin recently, Highland City, one of the "ghost cities" of the West, lost its last resident.

With only his faithful dog, gaunt and weak from a hunger, to keep a silent and sorrowful vigil by the side of his bunk, the body of Kern was found in his lonely cabin in the city long deserted. One of the first to arrive in this once thriving gold camp, he was also the last to "leave" and now only his old dog "Shep" remains to mourn his passing.

With John Kern passes also into memory much of the early history of one of the territory's early gold-mining camps, and Highland City at last takes its place among the "Ghost Cities" of the West. Highland City is located in the Highland Mountains, near the main range of the Rockies, about 25 miles south of Butte. It has an altitude of nearly 7,000 feet.

Once Thriving Town

Thousands once trod the streets of this almost forgotten camp, but its one remaining inhabitant has at last responded to the lure of the great "Bonanza."

Almost three-quarters of a century have elapsed since word went out that gold had been discovered in the Highlands, south of Butte. Kern, then a young prospector, like many another of his type, answered the call to richer fields. He arrived with others, made his stake, and then the field began to play out. One by one those who had come in with him started back down the trail. But Kern had come to love the hills and mountains around the little camp they had called Highland City. Day by day he saw his friends depart, but he stayed on, ever in hope of striking it richer than any of the other strikes in the vicinity of the camp. His years of labor were partly rewarded when he uncovered what is declared to be the largest nugget ever discovered in Montana.

Staking out his claim, he labored on through the years. Some were fruitful, while others were not, but always he managed to extract enough gold from the mountains to supply him with his winter's grubstake. He never passed his way without stopping for a chat with "Highland Jack," and many are the troops of Boy Scouts that have hiked miles over the mountains to sit around the camp-fire and listen to the tales of the early mining days told by this old prospector, one of the last of his type.

Rancher's Find Bode

Ranchers passing through the old deserted mining camp, with its straggling streets and stunted and dilapidated buildings, with windowless jambs vacantly staring like eyeless sockets of skulls, found the old prospector dead in his bed. The stillness of death pervaded the atmosphere. The last resident of the abandoned and deserted city had also "deserted."

At the side of his bunk lay his old dog who for years had been his faithful companion when he roamed through the mountains. With his head resting on his paws he lay stretched out beside the bunk, waiting for the familiar whistle of his master which would no more call him forth to his day's hunt.

Kern was buried in the old cemetery of Highland City, in accordance with a wish often expressed. He was buried by Boy Scouts under the auspices of the Butte Council.

Fearing he would be arrested on the white slave charge, the man married the woman in Petersburg. Lipnick was given an extended session with the officers and they say he has made a confession that may have valuable leads. He says, however, that he got the money in a liquor transaction in New York, but the detectives think he is a member of a counterfeiting gang. He is being held for the federal grand jury.

TRUSTEES WILL MEET TODAY

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., April 17.—With the building program for the next two years to be decided upon, the trustees of the University of North Carolina board of trustees will meet here tomorrow and on the following day will submit its full report to the board, which will be in session. The committee, according to statements of members, is expected to woman's dormitory at the institution not to cost in excess of $100,000.

Approximately $1,000,000 is available for permanent improvements at the University during the next two years. One of the questions to be decided is the matter of repair of old buildings, bringing them up to modern standards. The water supply facilities are certain to be improved, according to officials. The institution had to postpone its opening week two years ago and it was only after emergency pipes had been laid that a longer delay was avoided. Emergency action was required against last year. Several new dormitories for men will be urged.

With $10,644,000 at their disposal for permanent improvements during the two years, all state institutions are making plans for the work. A study of appropriations of the past fifteen years, shows the general assembly has made rapid progress during recent sessions in providing for its institutions.

The University, according to Henry London's figures, has received approximately $4,352,000 for permanent improvements, most of this being appropriated in 1921 and 1922.

The North Carolina College for Women, at Greensboro, has received during this same period $3,123,000, while the Eastern Carolina College has been appropriated $1,864,877, making a total of $4,739,697 for the two institutions for women.

LOUIS BARTHOLO AND DE LA CROIX ON COMMISSION

(By The Associated Press)
PARIS, April 17.—Louis Barthou, president and French member of the reparations commission and M. De La Croix, Belgian member of the commission acting on the plan agreed to by the Belgian and French, premier at their conference here last week are expected to draw up the minimum conditions the two allies can accept from Germany in settlement of the reparations question.

A high spokesman for the French government today said these conditions would be communicated to Great Britain and Italy, the other two allied powers, but perhaps not until Germany has made known that she is ready to resume payments, the terms in the meantime being at secret to prevent the Germans from using them for the base of maneuvers.

The plan . . . out in . . .

ditions, will be within the limits fixed by the allies, May 16.—Germany would pay the A and B bonds to the amount of fifty billion gold marks. The C bonds would not be issued, but would serve as compensation for inter-allied debts. By the schedule of May 16, Germany was given a maximum period of 35 years in which to pay which is an average of 2,500,000,000 gold marks annually. But as the evacuation of the Ruhr is to be proportionate to German payments, it would be as the interest of the Ruhr, and herein lies the new feature of the plan, to pay as quickly as possible, notably by organizing an international loan.

LYNCHBURG, April 16.—Taylor Berry, 63, is dead here today, having never been sick a day before in his life. He dropped dead from heart trouble. # "Monroe Doctrine For Germany"

MUNICH, April 18.—"Germany for the Germans—through a 'Monroe' of our own."

The former is the aim, the latter the means to it, of the growing movement led by Adolf Hitler, the greatest single figure that has risen in Germany since the war.

This, together with his views that Germany is ruined if it must give up the Ruhr, and an explanation of the war he has declared on Marxian Socialism, are set forth in an authorized question and answer interview given to me by Hitler exclusively for NEA Service.

Hitler stands out as a real power in South Germany, with potential influence over all of the former empire. He is organizer and leader of the National Socialist Party of Bavaria and declares his nationalist movement is "reactionary, monarchistic, or anti-social."

To millions of people he is but a name, often one of terror. Very incomplete, and sometimes inaccurate, word portraits of the man have been broadcast. He is at once the miracle man and mystery man of Germany. For one thing, he has always refused to allow his photograph to be taken, and he has been successful in spite of all persuasion and tricks.

I have had several personal talks with Hitler and have traveled through Bavaria getting pictures of his famous storm troops. People call them the "hakenkreuz" because of the swastika cross, the good luck emblem that appears on every arm band, sword and every banner and standard and drum.

These troops drill unmolested in the country districts. Steel helmeted and uniformed, they march also in the streets of Munich before the eyes of the Reichswehr, the army of the socialist republic that nominally holds the reins of government in Berlin.

Hitler is only 34. He is of medium height, sturdily built, with blond hair and mustache, and the wide blue eyes of an idealist. He is a moving orator, with a voice that can be as soft and gentle as a child's and instantly as harsh and sharp as that of a Prussian drill master. He is shy and diffident until he talks of Germany, her past glory, her downfall, and the reasons for it.

"Reasons?" he cries. "Reasons for our downfall must be sought inside of Germany."

By religion, Hitler is a Catholic. But he says he believes in the absolute equality and freedom of all Christian religions. And he adds: "But Christian religions only."

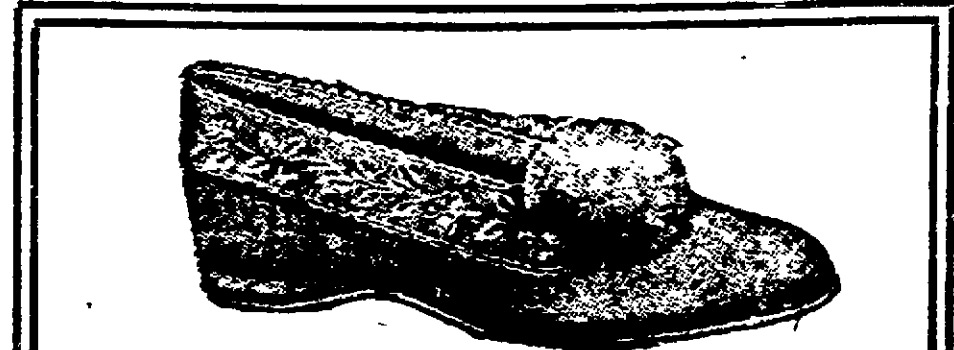

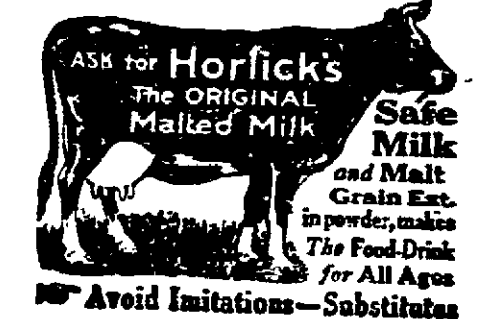

Hitler was born on the Bavarian plain, but educated himself in Vienna and Munich as an architectural artist. He served with Bavarian troops in the war as a private and just before the armistice he was gassed, temporarily losing sight and speech.

"Then I saw my future," he says. "These questions flashed through my mind: You never feared death—why? You are still alive when others around you fell—why? And I told myself: Because fate has enabled you out to accomplish something. I resolved to consecrate my life to my country—to the task of driving out the enemies within her borders."

HITLER SAYS: "GERMANY FOR THE GERMANS"

BY BOB DORMAN
NEA Service Camera Correspondent.
(Copyright, 1923, by NEA Service.)

MUNICH, April 18.—Adolf Hitler, dictator of South Germany, in an exclusive interview with NEA Service, made these answers to questions I put to him:

1. Q.—Do you believe Chancellor Cuno's policy of passive resistance against France will lead Germany's ruin?

A.—Germany is ruined if Cuno's passive resistance does not lead to the evacuation of the Ruhr.

2. Q.—Why do you think so?

A.—Because Germany without the Ruhr cannot exist as a nation.

3. Q.—What is the so-called Hitler movement?

A.—The Hitler movement aims at the complete extermination of Marxist doctrines and Marxist organizations throughout Germany and Europe.

4. Q.—Is there any truth in the report that it is only a pogrom movement, for organized riot and pillage?

A.—The Hitler movement has nothing to do with pogroms. It aims merely at the expulsion of hostile anti-national elements—very much as the United States excludes Japanese and Chinese.

5. Q.—What is your goal?

A.—To establish a "Monroe Doctrine" for Germany. America has said: "America for Americans." I say: "Germany for Germans."

6. Q.—Do you consider it a world fight?

A.—Yes. Since Marxism is an international peril, resistance to it should be the nations of the world.

7. Q.—What form of government do you think is best for Germany?

A.—Forms of government mean nothing. The real value of a government, according to our ideas, consists not in its name, but in its intrinsic national value.

8. Q.—What is your attitude toward reparations?

A.—So long as the richest and most important sections of Germany are occupied by our enemy, discussion of reparations is impossible.

9. Q.—What will you do if France carries out a reported threat to occupy Munich?

A.—Wait and see!

The wedding was informal, only a few relatives and friends being present.

Miss Ethylene Clark, her maid of honor, was becomingly attired in a midnight blue brocaded dress and carried pink Killarney roses.

Lottie Irene Woolwine, niece of the bride, carried the ring in the heart of a rose.

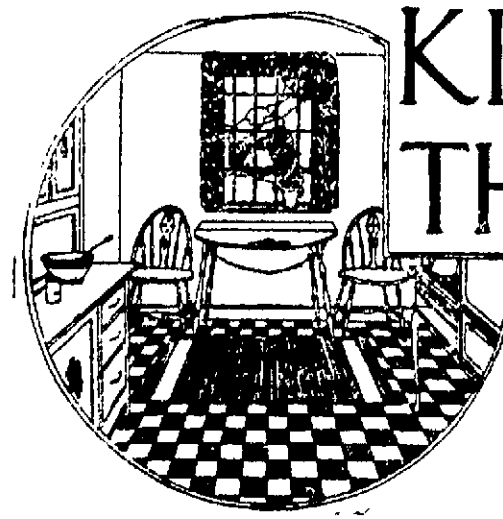

The bride entered with her brother, S. F. Dunkley, who gave her away, and was met at the improvised altar by the groom and his best man, Dr. George T. Divers, of Stuart.

The bride was attired in a handsome three-piece blue suit and carried a shower of bride's roses.

The ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, Rev. Jas. B. Douglas.

Lohengrin's bridal chorus was played by Mrs. George T. Divers as the bridal party entered, and "To a Wild Rose," by McDowell, was played during the ceremony.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hudson left for an automobile trip to Asheville, Blowing Rock, and Lake Toxaway, N. C.

Deflation In Golf Is Surely Coming

By WALTER CAMP.
(Copyright, 1923, By The Bee)

NEW YORK, April 15.—There is evidence today that the "deflation" of golf is coming and coming fast. Any move however slight along that direction is to be commended, for there is no other game or athletic contest which can be more generally participated in with such splendid results to the physical and mental man than golf.

What is perhaps the first step along the cutting of the high cost of golf has been taken by the University Golf Club of Great Neck, Long Island where a private course is provided with in the reach of young salaried men.

It is repetition to say that the writer frequently has pointed out in the past year exactly what was taking place in the way of costly alterations in courses, unobtainable upkeep and along other lines that was making it impossible for any young man particularly if he had a family to support to continue as a member of the private golf club. It is worth repetition, however, if the objective can be finally attained—that is making it possible for the moderate salaried man to follow the game without necessarily having to depend on a far away municipal course. Of course the ideal is a municipal course to give all lovers of the game a chance to indulge in the mornings or afternoons.

Students of college policies, especially as regards athletics were afforded considerable food for thought in the decision of the Yale faculty to permit Jess Sweetzer to go abroad for European competition in golf, with the American team.

Of course in the old days consent to any athlete to make a long trip of this kind in term time would have been out of the picture but things have changed radically in the respect and there is much more elasticity.

Perhaps this is best noted in the conduct of the two great United States Academies, West Point and Annapolis. Formerly their cadets were all confined to home grounds with a single exception. Now they are permitted to travel, the theory being that the public has a right to see its wards occasionally in action and more than that, that it is a good thing from the standpoint of increasing patriotism and drawing men to the colors.

Altogether the world does move.

START YOUR GOLF RIGHT; SEE A PROFESSIONAL

BY MIKE BRADY
Western Open Champion

TO any beginner in golf my first advice would be to take at least a few lessons from a professional. That may sound like propaganda for myself and my brother professionals, but it is born of the fact that bad habits in golf are the hardest things imaginable to shake off.

The toughest situation a professional faces is to try to make over a man's game when that man has taken up the game hilly with the idea that there is no more science or secret to hitting a golf ball correctly than there is to swinging an umbrella head at a pebble.

When a bad stroke becomes second nature to a golfer, and he goes to a professional to straighten him out, it takes all the patience the professional can muster and all the practice the player can give to eradicate the fault.

Golf is a flatterer and a deceiver. A man goes out for the first time, hits the ball surprisingly well and plays so excellently his first time around that he fondly believes he is on the road to become a first-class player. He may do well for a few rounds, but suddenly everything seems to go wrong and he hasn't the slightest idea what is the matter.

Now while there is no professional living who can make a good golfer out of everybody who goes to him for lessons, he can catch certain fundamentals and start him on the right road.

Lots of men say that they have taken up the game for fun and experience only, but human nature is human nature, and any man would rather play well than poorly.

Kinks of the Links

In making some changes near the green the soil is rendered very soft. After a hard rain it has become so sloppy that a ball striking such a spot will either wholly or partially bury itself. It is possible to loosen the ball from the hole it has dug for itself by lifting it and replacing it in the hole?

Two rulings are possible in such a situation. If the player may lift the ball and drive again from where the stroke was made, merely losing stroke and distance. Under the W. G. A. rules, the ball may be lifted and dropped without penalty, the ball being regarded in casual water.

Playing a second shot, the ball lands on the wrong green. Must the ball be played from the green or can it be lifted and dropped without penalty?

Once again there are two possible rulings. The rules of the U. S. G. A. make it compulsory to play the ball from the lie on the wrong green. Under W. G. A. rules the player can lift the ball and drop it off such green without penalty.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LEAGUE MEETING LAST EVENING

A well attended and enthusiastic meeting of the Sunday School Baseball League was held last night at the Y. M. C. A.

The following schools had from ten to twenty-five present: Christian, Sied Memorial, T. Ver. non, Moffett Memorial, Shelton Memorial, Calvary and Cabell. Schools that have decided to enter which were not represented are urged to have some one at the next and final meeting before the league opening, which will be held at 8 o'clock, Thursday night, April 26, at 8 o'clock.

It was agreed that each team entering the league must have its entry and registration fee with list of eligible players in the hands of the secretary not later than May 1st, after that time no teams will be taken in.

Games will be played on days that the Piedmont League team is not at home and will start promptly at 5:30 o'clock, and any team not on the field and ready to play at that time will forfeit the game. Each team and opponents have team ready to play.

Rules of the game are to be strictly enforced with no manager having any right to change same with agreement.

One umpire will be furnished by each team, and their respective managers of each team to make arrangements for this important position.

The by-laws of the Sunday School League will be in full force and as the main object of the league is to increase attendance at the various schools, it will be necessary for superintendents of the schools represented, or by some one officially connected, to make a monthly report to the secretary of all players in good standing.

Following is a copy of the By-Laws of the league:

American League Season To Open This Afternoon

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 17.—With the National League forces already in the front lines—prepared to "fight it out" on that line all summer—the American League's opening barrage of base-hits will be laid down tomorrow.

The spot-light in the junior circuit will be directed toward the shock troops of the American League, who will dedicate the Yankee stadium, their great amphitheatre in the Bronx, in the opening skirmish with the Boston Red Sox.

Washington will pry off the lid against the Athletics in Philadelphia, while in the West the Speaker's Cleveland Indians will entertain the Chicago White Sox, and the "Sislers" St. Louis Browns will be hosts to the Detroit Tigers.

Possibility of a new record for baseball attendance being established at the Yankee stadium opening was forecast late today by announcement that the entire reserved seating capacity of 20,000 had been sold.

And his mighty bludgeon, intent upon a come-back to retrieve prestige lost last season, will be an important factor in the Tankee attack.

Detroit, more powerful on the offensive than the champions, but lacking as reliable and well rounded hurling corps, looms as the contender in chief for the Yankee's laurels. Ty Cobb has instilled into his men a will to win which will be hard to down.

The addition of two costly third basemen, both from the Pacific Coast has played a prominent part in improving the pennant chances of both Chicago and Philadelphia. William Kamm, from San Francisco gives every indication of being worth all of the $100,000 he cost the White Sox, while Sammy Hale, obtained by Connie Mack from Portland for around $45,000 promises to give the Athletics, the best infield since the days of the famous $100,000 quartet.

St. Louis, minus George Slater, its main spring on both attack and defense does not figure to land near the top. Cleveland has strengthened several positions with acquisitions of the race, but Boston and Washington, in the hands of new pilots, Frank Chance and Donnie Bush, appear irretrievably moored to the second division.

CUBBAGE HEAD COACH AT V. P. I.

(By The Associated Press)

BLACKSBURG, Va., April 17.—At a meeting of the Athletic board of Virginia Polytechnic Institute held today, Ben Cubbage was appointed head coach for the 1923-24 season.

John G. Wallace was appointed assistant football coach and Henry G. Reid, freshman coach. The appointments were announced by C. P. Miles.

Cubbage has been coach at Tech for the past three years and was formerly a Penn State star. Wallace played quarter for the Tech's last season and was considered one of the best players in the South Atlantic division. Reid was a former Tech star and had charge of the freshmen last season.

SOUTH BOSTON DEFEATS CLOVER

SOUTH BOSTON, Va., April 17.—The South Boston High School defeated the Clover High School here this afternoon by the score of 5 to 2. In one of the scheduled county league games. It was an interesting game, especially from the standpoint of the local fans. The feature was the playing of Lovelace, pitching for the locals. Lovelace fanned fifteen batters and got three two-baggers in four times at bat. He was responsible for scoring all of South Boston's four runs. Newbrill pitched a good game for Clover but Lovelace seemed to locate his batters for safeties.

Perry Discusses Golf Specialization

BY LAWRENCE PERRY
(Copyright, 1923, By The Bee)

NEW YORK, April 15.—With a flower of our amateur golfers—aside from Chick Evans and Bob Jones—on the Atlantic today enroute for England we catch the word "specialization" in more than one London dispatch setting forth English comment upon the forthcoming invasion.

The Americans, so runs the trend of thought may win the British amateur title among them and as a team they may succeed in defending the Walker Cup. But this will prove merely that we have made specialization in golf—as in other sports—a religion whereas such victories would not prove that the average American is more athletic than the average Englishman. All of which is interesting chiefly because it is true.

As matter of fact so far at least as versatility in sports is concerned, it is hardly to be doubted that many more Englishmen than Americans have the ability to perform creditably in private games. On the other hand our English friends would do well to consider that it was not for this very habit of specialization no team of amateurs golfers would now be on its way to Alibon's shores for the simple reason that we would have no amateurs of ability sufficient to warrant sending them. And surely the overseas golfers would look upon this as regrettable since in recent years the scheme of International competition as between England and America has done much to improve our common understanding and develop that mutual respect which is born through friendly rivalry.

Specialization alone has made our amazing progress in golf possible. It has provided us with a short cut to high proficiency in the game that would have come in no other way. When it is realized that our first open championship was held in 1894 and that our first National amateur came a year later—not 30 years ago—one gets an adequate idea of extraordinary distance that has traversed in a single generation. Thirty years ago golf in the United States was a faded years of steady expansion have removed the sport from this category and made it as definite a part of our sporting scheme as baseball. Indeed there has arisen a belief that the next 20 years will see golf supplanting baseball as our major national pastime—this chiefly through the present movement for the expansion of municipal links.

However, that may be there is ever reason to believe—judging foreign golfers make no effort to deny it—that America is destined to become the greatest golfing country in the world. It is estimated that nearly 2,000,000 men and women, boys and girls in the United States are playing golf—or will be shortly—and there are estimates which give this country some sixteen hundred golf clubs with a membership of nearly a million. We are spending according to golfing enthusiasts about $138,000,000 a year on the game. This is a stupendous sum and in some ways it is to be regretted so far as an appreciable item in this annual expenditure goes for golfing paraphernalia, which is very expensive. It must be reduced if the calling to the game of additional tens of thousands through the municipal links idea is likely to be realized.

PITTSBURG 3; CHICAGO 2.

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 17.—More than 38,000 persons, the largest crowd on record to witness an opening game in Chicago, packed the reconstructed Chicago National ball park today and saw Pittsburgh win the first game of the season, 3 to 2.

Mayor Dever of Chicago pitched the first ball. President Heydler, of the National League, was the guest of honor.

The game itself was a good exhibition, the visitors winning it in the fourth inning, when Grimm uncorked a double to right with the bases filled and two men out. Aside from this one inning the Pirates had no other opportunity to score, so well did Osborne pitch. Two passes in this frame and a fumble by Kelleher preceded Grimm's blow.

Chicago bunched hits in the second and put across the first run of the game, and added another in the seventh when Morrison became unsteady and walked Miller. Two outs put Miller on third and he scored on a wild pitch. Aside from these two frames Morrison pitched effectively.

Score: Pittsburgh 3, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 3, 2; Chicago 0, 1, 0, 0, 0, 0, 2, 8. R. H. E. Morrison and Schmidt; Osborne; Kaufmann, and O'Farrell.

PHILLES 5; BROOKLYN 5.

(By The Associated Press)

BROOKLYN, April 17.—Brooklyn and Philadelphia battled fourteen innings to a 5 to 5 tie, to open the season here today. Ruether, who beat the Philadelphia seven straight last season, went the entire fourteen innings. The visitors used four pitchers. Hubbell had a three run lead up to the sixth, when the Dodgers bunched three singles, filling the bases with one out. Mitchell, last season with Brooklyn, relieved Hubbell. A sacrifice fly, two passes and a scratch hit by Ruether, tied the score and sent Mitchell to the showers. Winters and Betts blanked the dodgers during the remainder of the game, although the latter had nine men left on bases during that stage and 15 altogether.

Score: R. H. E. Philly 100 220 000 000—5 9 4; Brooklyn 100 013 000 000—5 13 4. Hubbell, Mitchell, Winters, Betts and Henline, Ruether and Debery.

NEW YORK 4; BOSTON 1.

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, April 17.—McQuillan pitched the world's champion Giants to a 4 to 1 victory over the Braves in the opening game today. He was hit safely only four times and did not let razzed support bother him. Groh's triple and home run, both off McQuillan, accounted for three New York runs. Despite the cold weather there were 16,000 people to encourage President Christy Mathewson of the Boston Club in his new venture.

The Army, Marines and Navy had picked men in the drill before the game. Commissioner Landis, Governor Cox and Mayor Curley acted as catcher pitcher and batter, respectively, in the ceremony of throwing the first ball. O'Connell, Bagwell and Conlon played in their first big league game.

Score: R. H. E. New York 110 000 200—4 8 4; Boston 601 000 000—1 4 3. McQuillan and Snyder; McNamara, Marquard and O'Neil.

REDS WIN IN 11TH, 3 TO 2.

(By The Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, April 17.—The Reds opened the National League season here today by winning a well played 11-inning game from the St. Louis Cardinals, 3 to 2. Donohue was hit freely but kept them scattered except in the seventh and eighth rounds. Hornsby, leading hitter of the National League, did not get one safe hit in five times up but Bottomly made four singles. The Reds fielded without an error. The paid attendance of 20,333 broke the opening day records for Redland.

Score: Cincinnati .010 001 000 02—3 9 0; St. Louis .001 000 100—2 13 1. Donohue and Wingo; Pfeffer, Zell and Ainsmith, Clemson.

DOZEN MEN BEING HELD FOR MURDER OF TWO SHERIFFS

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, April 17.—A dozen men were being held tonight in connection with the killing of two deputy sheriffs and the wounding of another one at the Lake Borderidge near Violet, La., early today in a clash between rum runners and parish officers.
Joseph L. Estopinal and August Esteves, deputy sheriffs of St. Bernard Parish, were the men killed and Joseph Guerre, another deputy sheriff, was injured by being struck on the head with a pistol by one of the rum runners.
The deputies were killed when they halted a liquor laden truck from St. Bernard Parish as it attempted to cross the canal bridge into New Orleans.
Soon after the shooting New Orleans authorities began a round up of bootleggers and soon had 12 men in custody.
Walter Keefe and Joseph Fabre, two of the men arrested near the scene of the killing, who the police reported earlier in the day had announced their willingness to tell something of the shooting of the two officers, declared tonight they knew nothing about it.

NEGRESS GIVEN LONG SENTENCE

(By The Associated Press)
RICHMOND, Va., April 17.—Ninety days in the city jail was the punishment imposed upon Inez Rooker, negress, by Justice Ingram today, when she was arraigned on a charge of attacking two officers in a dance hall Monday night.
According to witnesses, Patrolman Brackett went to the dance hall to investigate complaints that Inez was disturbing the tranquility of the place and her labors. The officer attempted to effect the woman, it is said, when she jabbed a small knife in his leg, breaking the blade. This attack was followed, the witnesses said, by an assault upon the calf of the officer's leg, in Inez buried her molars.

Krull, kidnapped by the bandit leader Juan Salas from the Trinidad Camp in the State of Durango, April 6, had been released upon the payment of $25,000 ransom. Mexico City papers on Sunday published reports of his release, basing the statement upon information said to have been obtained from the War Department.

TRAINING CAMP ENROLLMENTS OPEN TO COUNTY

RICHMOND, Va., April 17.—Enrollments for the Citizens' Military Training Camp, June 25 to July 15, are already oversubscribed in some counties it was announced today at the Headquarters 80th Division, 7th and Franklin Sts. Headquarters are considering the advisability of appropriating the allotment by reducing the quotas of counties which are undersubscribed and giving those vacancies to counties oversubscribed.

On account of the limited appropriations Virginia could only be allotted 618 and this number was distributed by counties according to population. Pittsylvania County still has 19 vacancies. No decision on the question of re-appropriation has been arrived at, as it is desired to give the boys in all counties an equal chance.

The Citizens' Military Training Camps, authorized by Congress, are declared by the Virginia committee to offer the best facilities now available for physical training and the mastery of the fundamentals of military arts during vacation. Young men between the ages of 17 and 24—older men are admitted if they have attended a previous camp—are allowed their railroad fare to the training camp in Maryland, are clothed and fed at the government's expense and are given active instruction under competent physical directors, along with their drill and military training. From start to finish the month's activity need cost the young man nothing except the pocket money he chooses to spend. No obligation to military service at any time or in any form is entailed by attendance on the camp.

ALLEGED KLAN LETTERS SHOWN

(By The Associated Press)
CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 17.—In his instructions to the grand jury in federal court today Judge George W. He also exhibited a letter with the Klan insignia, which he said threatened a Charleston man if he defended a divorce suit. Judge McClintic's instructions to the grand jury contained no reference to the Klan with respect to the letters he had read.

Gov't. Turns To Immigration and Labor Situation

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Declaration by E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, that the restrictive immigration law had made it impossible to draw the attention of government officials to the immigration question and the labor situation.

Both immigration and labor conditions were touched upon by the cabinet at its meeting and Secretary Davis presented a report at which it was said later at the White House that President Hoover was convinced that Judge Gary was quite correct in his statement that a labor shortage was threatened.

The portion of Judge Gary's statement was made at the annual meeting yesterday in Hoboken, N. J., of the United States Steel Corporation's stockholders criticizing the restrictive immigration laws and blaming it for the threatened labor scarcity, however brought replies from several quarters.

Chairman Johnson of the House Immigration Committee in a formal statement declared there should be no relaxation in the restrictions of the act and ascribed criticism of the statute by large corporations to a desire for cheaper labor. Senator Hoffman, Alabama, also issued a statement in reply to Mr. Gary's remarks that Congress insisted of liberalizing the present immigration laws should at its next session strengthen them.

Secretary Davis' report was written prior to Judge Gary's address but declared "throwing open the gates at a time of prosperity in order to flood the country with workers and non-workers would serve to bring prosperity to an end."

But Mr. Davis added that unemployment had now been reduced to a maximum and that wages were rising, supplementing his report with a verbal statement to the president that a shortage of workers already existed in some of the skilled trades, particularly among the puddlers in the steel mills.

"Under these conditions, with labor every where in demand," the Labor Secretary's report said, "it is inevitable that there should be agitation among some for the lifting of immigration restrictions."

The report presented two features strict but just tests of physical and mental health and the requirement that the immigrant be numerically restricted now placed by law on immigration," said Mr. Davis. "I would have these tests made abroad, in order that the applicant for admission may not have to spend the saving of a life time on a long sea voyage to find out whether he can enter the United States."

He felt that nothing would strengthen the immigration policy so much as this move and one result would be to end the heart-rending scenes which every day confront our agents at Ellis Island and other ports of entry.

In furtherance of this proposal for selective immigration, Mr. Davis informed the president that inquiry was now being made by his department into the possibility of requiring the whole machinery of the immigration bureau to foreign countries under present laws.

The other proposal outlined in the report concerned the control of the admitted aliens which Mr. Davis has previously advocated as a means of helping the immigrant to acquire the qualifications to be American.

Irregular Hemline

The irregular hemline is seen now only on afternoon and evening gowns.

On these it is developed in new and unexpected ways. The three afternoon gowns sketched show three uneven hemlines—one a wide, overlapping panel, another many long thin red panels, the third a solid insert.

Frank Slavin Is "Up Against It"

VICTORIA, B. C. April 17.—Frank Slavin, one of the few remaining links between the days of bare-knuckle fighting and the padded mitt, is broke—"E pluribus unum."

A few days ago Jim Jeffries, king of the heavies not many years back, tied a petition of bankruptcy because of poor investments. Now along comes poor old Frank Slavin with an appeal for support.

Slavin fought in the day when the bare knuckles clicked against the point of the jaw and the ring was often in a saloon or a barn, and a strict lookout kept for the police.

He will always be remembered for his great battle with Peter Jackson in 1922. Frank was beaten, but it was by one of the best black men that ever stepped inside the ropes.

Since his retirement from the ring Slavin has been trying his hand at mining in British Columbia and the Yukon. He figured in the Klondike rush in '93 and was making both ends meet when the Great War broke out. Slavin signed up with the Canadian Expeditionary Force and, after a long spell in the trenches, was back and home. His only son was killed going over the top. Slavin has never been well since his return, and last year he was nearly ruined by the Grip Flu. He is slowly recuperating, but his finances are "S.O.B."

The Canadian Legion has interested itself in his case and will come out with the American Legion and the British and Australian ex-service forces with the view to getting funds for the veteran of both fighting and the war.
